

Beckys Story.	Nottingham Playhouse Filming Day
	I was making a promotional video with Laura for Nottingham Playhouse.
	For the first shot we had to walk through the front entrance.
	But every time we tried to get in, the doors got jammed.
	So we had to keep re filming the shot.
	Finally the doors were working but I forgot which way they opened and the door banged me in the face !!!
	Eventually we were filming inside the building but as we were in the middle of filming a member of the public came in and was talking loudly about her lunch. We had to stop filming again.
	I thought we would never get it done.
 	We asked her if she wanted to be in the film talking about the Playhouse café where she had just had her lunch. She agreed and they could finish the film with her saying how wonderful the food was and what good value.
	Finally we were done. We went to the bar and had a nice glass of wine – we deserved it after the day we had !
